

WHY DID THE CHICKEN CROSS THE ROAD?

George Bush: “We don't really care why the chicken crossed the road. We just want to know if the chicken is on our side of the road or not. The chicken is either with us or it is against us. There is no middle ground here.”

Al Gore: “When I invented the chicken. I invented the road. Therefore, the chicken crossing the road represented the application of these two different functions of government in a new, reinvented way designed to bring greater services to the American people.”

Bill Gates: “I have just released chicken 2003, which will not only cross roads, but will lay eggs, file your important documents, and balance your checkbook --- and Internet Explorer is an inextricable part of chicken.”

Martha Stewart: “No one called to warn me which way that chicken was going. I had a standing order at the farmer's market to sell my eggs when the price dropped to a certain level. No little bird gave me any insider information.”

Dr. Seuss: Did the chicken cross the road?
Did he cross it with a toad?
Yes, the chicken crossed the road,
But why it crossed, I've not been told!

Ernest Hemingway: “To die. In the rain. Alone.”

Martin Luther King Jr: “I envision a world where chickens are no longer measured by the color of their plumage, but by the tastiness of their breasts and thighs.”

Grandpa: “In my day, we didn't ask why the chicken crossed the road. Someone told us that the chicken crossed the road, and that was good enough for us.”

Barbara Walters: “Isn't that interesting? In a few moments we will hear to the chicken tell, for the first time, the heart-wrenching story of how it experienced a serious case of molting while accomplishing its life-long dream of crossing the road.”

Ralph Nader: “The chicken's habitat on the original side of the road had been polluted by unchecked industrialist greed. The chicken did not reach the unspoiled habitat on other side of the road because it was crushed by the wheels of a gas-guzzling SUV.”

Jerry Seinfeld: “What is all this crossing the road stuff? Why does anyone cross a road? I mean, why doesn't anyone ever think to ask? Can chickens even talk”

Pat Buchanan: “To steal a job from a decent, hard-working American.”

Rush Limbaugh: "I don't know why the chicken crossed the road, but I'll bet it was getting a government grant and I'll bet someone out there is already forming a support group to help the poor chickens deal with the stress of oncoming traffic... Poor stressed out chickens. Can you believe this? How much more of this can real Americans take? Chickens crossing the road paid for by tax dollars, and when I say tax dollars, I'm talking about your money, money the government took from you to build roads for chickens to cross."

Jerry Falwell: "Because the chicken chose to be gay! Isn't it obvious? Can't you people see the plain truth in front of your face? The chicken was going to the 'other side.' That's what they call it -- the other side. Yes, my friends, that chicken is now gay. And, if you eat that chicken, you will become gay too. I'm calling for a boycott of all chickens until we sort out this abomination that the liberal media whitewashes with seemingly harmless phrases like 'the other side'. Chicken can eat themselves until the morals sent by god as spoken by me are adopted by chickens everywhere."

John Lennon: "Imagine all the chickens crossing roads in peace, you can do it if you try"

Aristotle: "It is the nature of chickens to cross the road."

Karl Marx: "It was a historical inevitability."

Saddam Hussein: "This was an unprovoked act of rebellion and we were quite justified in dropping 50 tons of nerve gas on it."

Voltaire: "I may not agree with what the chicken did, but I will defend to the death its right to do it."

Captain Kirk: "To, boldly go, where no, chicken, has gone... before."

Fox Mulder: "You saw it cross the road with your own eyes! How many more chickens have to cross before you believe it?"

Agent Scully: "It was a simple bio-mechanical reflex that is commonly found in chickens."

Bill Clinton: "I did not cross the road with THAT chicken. What do you mean by chicken? Could you define chicken, please?"

Hillary Clinton: "That chicken was on its way to sleep with Bill. I say it takes a village to cook and eat every last "Chicken" to send them all a message!"

The Bible: "And God came down from the heavens, and He said unto the chicken, "Thou shalt cross the road." And the chicken crossed the road, and there was much rejoicing."

Albert Einstein: "Did the chicken really cross the road or did the road move beneath the chicken?"

Sigmund Freud: "The fact that you are at all concerned that the chicken crossed the road reveals your underlying sexual insecurity."

L.A.P.D.: "Give us ten minutes alone with the chicken and we'll find out."
